

Writers Use Informational Writing Skills in Many Genres

Elaborate in various ways:

- Include a few sentences for each point.
- Use a variety of details.
- Balance between personal experiences and research.

Use a logical structure:

- Write a lead that gets attention and introduces the topic.
- Group similar information together.
- Connect sentences & sections.

Use language carefully:

- Include vocabulary specific to the topic.
- Get the readers' attention by using fancy language or talking directly to them.
